

Searching for academic articles

1. Go to the K-State Library main page: <https://www.lib.k-state.edu/>
2. In the search field type the author's name and article title. Press enter.
3. The search may return a number of results. Identify the return that corresponds to the information provided in the syllabus.
4. At the bottom of each return there is a green link that reads "Available Online". Click this and a new page will pop up.
5. You should see at least one line that reads "Get Full Text Here" followed by a hyperlink to a particular source. For example, "JSTOR Arts and Sciences". Click on one of these links and you will be redirected to the publisher or archive's webpage for the article.
6. The final step will vary depending on the website. JSTOR will show an icon that says "Download PDF". Other pages may simply show a PDF logo or a "download" link. Regardless of the specific style, you can click on one of these links to download and save a PDF version of the article.
